Drive Through Christmas

Feeding Families of Alabama will hold a Drive Through Christmas event tonight from 6-8 in Hartselle. The nonprofit organization decorated the area around Mt. Tabor Church, 373 Mount Tabor Road, with trees, lights and inflatables. Children will receive a gift and goodies and pets will receive a treat while supplies last. Santa will be on site to talk and take pictures with children. The event is free.

Christmas Movie

Get in the holiday spirit with a screening of “National Lampoon’s Christmas Vacation” at the Princess Theatre in downtown Decatur. The movie will begin at 7 p.m. Tickets cost $7 for adults and $5 for students and seniors.

Today-Monday

Christmas Lights

Spend Christmas weekend taking in the lights around north Alabama. In Decatur, stop by Harrison Street Southeast where tens of thousands of lights synchronized to holiday tunes and movie music light up the Terry home. The light show is on display tonight, 5-10:10 p.m., Friday and Saturday, 5-11:40 p.m., and Sunday, 5-10:10 p.m. See a schedule of the songs at lights.tbonerex.com/Christmas. Tune to 107.1 FM.

In Huntsville, drive through the Galaxy of Lights at Huntsville Botanical Garden where more than 2.5 miles of light displays feature holiday themes, classic characters and nature scenes. The display will be open today through Jan. 1, 5:30-9 p.m., but will be closed Saturday. Admission is $25 per car if purchased in advance, $35 at the gate tonight and Friday, or $30 at the gate from Sunday-Jan. 1. 4747 Bob Wallace Ave. S.W., Huntsville. hsvbg.org.

The Rocket City Christmas Light Show in Madison features a mile-and-a-half of holiday lights and animated scenes. The light show at the Rocket City Trash Pandas' Toyota Field, 500 Trash Panda Way, Madison, is open 5-9 p.m. through Jan. 2. Along with the light show, the spectacular will host a Winter Wonderland with hot chocolate stations, cookie decoration, s'mores making and more tonight and Friday. Admission is $30 per car. ## Sunday

Huntsville Havoc

Finish off the holiday weekend with a trip to Huntsville to see the Huntsville Havoc take on the Macon Mayhem. The puck to the game on Sunday will drop at 5 p.m. at the Von Braun Center, 700 Monroe St. S.W., Huntsville. During intermission at the hockey game, the popular small dog races will take place on the ice. Tickets range from $12 to $35 each. Huntsvillehavoc.com.
